SEASON #4 (SUMMER 2003) COPPER RECAP:

The loss during the first round of the play-offs the season before, left the Phantoms with some unanswered business. The team knew that it had what it takes to capture a championship. During the fourth season of hockey, the team continued its great chemistry both on and off the rink. While the summer session created some problems due to vacations and other planned outings, the team managed to overcome these minor obstacles. By adding two subs to the roster, these subs would eventually work their way into full time Phantoms and would become key additions to the team. During the season, the Phantoms posted an outstanding record of 9-1-1. The only loss coming against last seasons champions, the Flying Squirrels. For the third time inside four seasons, the team would make it into the play-offs. With the vision of last seasons loss during the first round, the team had to prove to its critics that the Phantoms were not "Play-off Chokes." However, after going down 3-0 during the first period, it appeared that the team would again suffer play-off unrest. However, there were the lead. However, with under 20 seconds remaining in the game, the Legion (1st Round opponent), would score to tie the game 4-4. Overtime would be needed to advance a winner. The Phantoms would come out flying and Adam Trahan would connect to score the game winning goal in Overtime. The Phantoms would advance to the Finals and face off against the team that defeated their play-off hopes a season ago, the Vipers. During the Championship game, the Phantoms were great, as the numerous fans that looked on were treated to a spectator show. Adam (1), Kurt (2) and Rob (1) would all score goals during the Championship game. On the defensive side, for the shots that got past, netminder Woot was equal to the task. Shutting down several break-aways and one-on-ones, the Vipers would be held scoreless, as the Phantoms blank the Vipers 4-0 during the Championship game. The Phantoms get revenge and settled the unfinished business from last season. The Phantoms would capture the teams first-ever Championship. This trophy not only stands as a team accomplishment, but also as an individual accomplishment for every player on the team. Their Heart & Dedication would Prevail.
